

Google Acquires GIF, Tenor New iPad

SAN FRANCISCO: Google has acquired mobile GIF keyboard and search engine Tenor for Android, iOS and desktop making it easier for users to find and share GIF images, the company has announced.

“Most people use Google Images to find more information about a topic and to help them communicate and express themselves-case in point, we see millions of searches for GIFs every day,” Cathy Edwards, Director of Engineering, Google Images, wrote in a post Tuesday.

“We have continued to evolve Google Images to meet both of these needs and today we are bringing GIFs more closely into the fold by acquiring Tenor, a GIF platform for Android, iOS and desktop,” Edwards added.

Tenor would bring up GIFs inside Google Images and other services like Gboard more easily.

“With their deep library of content, Tenor surfaces the right GIFs in the moment so you can find the one that matches your mood.

“Tenor will help us do this more effectively in Google Images as well as other products that use GIFs, like Gboard,” the search engine giant noted.

Tenor would continue to operate as a separate brand and Google “is looking forward to investing in their technology and relationships with content and API partners.”

CHICAGO: Apple on Tuesday unveiled a new 9.7-inch iPad that will be available for schools in the US for just $299 ($329 for consumers) and some classroom software.

The iPad features a large retina display, the A10 Fusion chip and advanced sensors that help deliver immersive augmented reality, and provides unmatched portability, and all-day battery life.

First introduced for iPad Pro, Apple Pencil has become a popular tool among students and creative professionals. Advanced sensors measure pressure and tilt, and provide pixel-perfect accuracy and low latency for activities in apps like Notability, Pages, Numbers, Keynote and Office.

McAfee Unveils New Cybersecurity Portfolio

NEW DELHI: Global cybersecurity firm McAfee on Wednesday unveiled a refreshed portfolio of its cybersecurity solutions that allows rapid response to advanced cybersecurity threats.

McAfee’s updated Enterprise Security Manager (ESM 11) leverages a new data architecture optimised for scalability, performance, faster search and collaboration. This new architecture combined with the newly-launched McAfee Behavioral Analytics and enhanced McAfee Investigator, McAfee Advanced Threat Defense, and McAfee Active Response would help security operation teams optimise their security infrastructure.

McAfee ESM 11, and McAfee Behavioral Analytics are now available. McAfee Investigator will be available in April and enhancements to McAfee Advanced Threat Defense and McAfee Active Response will be available in May.

“Given the difficulty in finding skilled resources, enterprises need advanced analytics and machine learning-powered solutions to augment the people they have,” said Jason Rolleston, Vice-President of Security Analytics at McAfee.
